To maintain ease in reading and remain consistent with the Scripture text chosen, in most cases I have used small initial letters for pronouns and certain nouns that relate to God. In areas where there might be confusion about who is being referred to, I have used capital letters consistent with traditional grammar rules.

All Scripture portions are italicized and indented. Where Scripture text is boldfaced, an emphasis has been added. Square parenthesis in the Scripture text indicate additions for explanatory purposes.

PREFACE

We live in a world of many different belief systems. Whether you call them religions, faiths, cults, or a bunch of weirdoes doing their own thing, what people believe cannot be ignored. History is strewn with wars and scrapping over religion. In the past, these battles were fought on a local level. Now, with the advent of the global village, people of very different beliefs are being pressed up against each other, and the potential for major conflict is enormous.

It behooves us to know what our neighbors believe and why they believe it. Though we may never agree with them, when we know what people believe, at the very least, we can intelligently disagree without being disagreeable; and our neighbors, being understood, feel less threatened.

ALL THAT THE PROPHETS HAVE SPOKEN is about the most widely distributed and most vehemently disputed book in history—the Bible. If you are one of those who seriously wants to understand what the Old and New Testament Scriptures are all about, then this book is for you.

I've tried to keep this book as objective as possible. That is not easy. By their very nature, the writings of the prophets demand a response. Nonetheless, I've worked to explain the Scripture clearly, allowing it to speak for itself—to say what it says—but letting you draw your own conclusions. What you believe about it all is up to you.

Some may accuse me of losing objectivity because I've communicated the Scripture as fact. I've felt that it was a risk I must run, as the Word of God presents itself that way. To do otherwise would not be true to the text. In writing, I was determined to not water down the message of the prophets. The Scripture is quite direct about what it has to say and I've endeavored to reflect that reality by shunning any sort of vagueness.

So, if you are one of those who would like to understand the message of the prophets as it was written long ago, come along and read ALL THAT THE PROPHETS HAVE SPOKEN. Their message may surprise you.

The Word of God says:

... “Come!” Whoever is thirsty, let him come; and whoever wishes, let him take the free gift of the water of life.

I warn everyone who hears the words of the prophecy of this book: If anyone adds anything to them, God will add to him the plagues described in this book.

And if anyone takes words away from this book of prophecy, God will take away from him his share in the tree of life and in the holy city, which are described in this book.
